

A recipe from

DAD'S COOKBOOK

Rating:

Dance Hall Lemonade

When you need lemonade, but you also want a Real Man's Drink, this is the stuff; it'll make want to get up and dance to Country-Western music...

½ oz vodka or gin (tequila if it's Mexican food night)

½ oz triple sec

½ oz blue curaçao

½ lemon, juiced

splash Sprite (or other lemon-lime soda)

splash sweet-and-sour mix

2 tsp superfine sugar

Mix all ingredients in a shaker and pour over cracked ice in a tall glass. Garnish with citrus slices and cherries.

Remember to drink responsibly, especially this stuff; it sneaks up on you. It's one thing to want to dance, and quite another to want to climb on a table and start taking your clothes off...

Yield: 1 mighty fine glass of (adults only) lemonade

Preparation time: 3 minutes

